

I want to combine blinds with curtains. Is that possible?

Impression for sophistication, practicality and modernity can be achieved with both curtains and interior or exterior blinds

Different types of blinds have lately become more preferable for shading rooms not only because they are modern but also because they have qualities which will help us improve the energy efficiency of our home. Blinds have become popular in the 20th century and have not lost their strong positions ever since in the competition with their "rivals", the curtains, because they look alike and have similar features. Of course they have different ways of operation and maintenance.

In the home of people who suffer from asthma or allergies it is impossible to install lavish curtains or blinds which retain dust and are difficult to clean so light curtains are recommended because they can be easily removed and maintained clean without problems.

For bedrooms we recommend blinds which can ensure full shading even during the day so people can enjoy their sleep at any time of the day.

Combination of blinds and curtains is also a wonderful solution because this way you can achieve original interior and you can take advantage of the qualities of both the blinds and the curtains.
