

Which are the most suitable blinds for bathrooms?

When making a decision which blinds are most suitable for your bathroom, the first thing you need to consider is the possibility to wet the blinds or to be exposed to the influence of a significant amount of humidity.

If so, the most suitable choice would be the vinyl or PVC roller blinds which are perfect if you want to achieve a stylish and decent look of the bathroom window. If you need a bit more control of light during the day you can also take a look at the waterproof vertical blinds. What is important for these two types of blinds is that they are not only waterproof but also help saving electricity.

For bathrooms where the blinds are not close to the bath or shower and when there is no danger for them to get wet or to be exposed to humidity, you have much bigger choice.

Luxurious Roman shades are a wonderful choice if you are looking for more pomposity. Their beautiful soft creases and classic look bring opulent and fabulous look to every window. Roman shades are not recommended for bathrooms with humidity in the air so they are only recommended for bathrooms which are really big or well ventilated and the blinds will be far away from the bath or the shower.
